

sa?

i'm filthy!

Proving that hard work and dedication pays off, this summer workers' party Filthy Gorgeous has been snapped up by Privilege to host the Coco Loco room on Wednesdays alongside Mauro Picotto's Meganite.

Launched last July as a gathering for the San An workers at Hush - one of the more upscale bars in the West End - the Filthy Gorgeous night proved an instant hit, attracting DJs like Jo Mills, MYNC Project and Steve Mac, who all waived their fees to be part of the Filthy Gorgeous experience.

Following a winter of successful parties in the UK and a special one-off New Year's Eve party on a beach in Mexico, Privilege soon came knocking.

"I played at Privilege a couple of times last year," said resident and promoter Jamie Gittins. "But never in our wildest dreams did I imagine they would offer us a night there."

"The plan is to involve the workers as much as possible, the theme will be punks - so we'll be encouraging everybody to dress up. The music policy will be dirty house, electro and breaks with sleazy punk-rock influences. Just filth, basically."

Residents & co-promoters
Jamie and Scott

TOP WORKER PARTIES

1 ELECTRIC SEX EDEN

Dusted's back room faves Electric Sex have built up a solid reputation thanks to DJs Ryan O'Gorman, Andy G and guests like Jo Mills and Tim Sheridan.

2 RICH & FAMOUS PLASTIK

A new night for this summer, Rich & Famous spans soulful funky house to electro and breaks. Residents include Tristan Ingram and Dermot G.

3 IBIZA GROOVE HUSH

Small Marco has been buzzing around the Ibiza scene for the last few years and his new night at Hush has been a massive hit with the San An workers.